

WHAT WOULD JESUS UNDO – PART 2: MISDIRECTION SUNDAY, APRIL 26, 2020

Have you ever noticed that it's easy for the priorities and attention of life to be misdirected? It's easy to walk moment to moment and day to day while giving little or no consideration to God. But what if we were intended for so much more than just sleepwalking through life? Jesus would undo misdirection in life and direct our priority and attention toward and on God?

Read Matthew 15:1-20

- What are some traditions you hold to be important?
- Have you ever thought those traditions might not reflect the heart of God as much as you think they do?
- How does Jesus' story about honoring one's father and mother reflect a heart condition of hypocrisy in the religious leaders?
- What are some ways people give lip service to things but without a heart-level commitment behind them?
- How would you describe worship?
- What are some "man-made ideas" that create a barrier to connecting in worship with God?
- How do the words we use reflect the condition of our hearts?
- How does the order of our priorities reflect the condition of our hearts?
- How does where we place our attention reflect the condition of our hearts?
- What is one next step you can take to check the condition of your heart?

JESUS WOULD UNDO MISDIRECTED PRIORITIES AND MISPLACED ATTENTION
